

Raising the Bar on Operations Begins With Education

October 17, 2017

MONTREAL (CANADA) – Phocion Investment Services (Phocion) is an advocate for continuing education and a proponent for all investment industry participants to continually strive to better themselves. A page on Phocion’s website is dedicated to highlight various financial societies some of which offer education programs. We urge individuals not to wait for their employers or others to nudge them. Rather, we highly recommend that they take it upon themselves to participate in dialog and networking, and to strike a debate on various topics and to challenge what appears to go against their own belief system.
